Discover the power you have to help youth make better choices with Big Brothers Big Sisters volunteers at our January neighborhood meeting.

A number of children don't have the friendship and kind guidance of a responsible person. We too often see the results of poor decisions in our community, such as graffiti, garbage, and theft. Working with youth strengthens their community bonds and instills pride instead of disconnection. Mentoring is a chance to help guide someone's future and make a real difference.

The kids need only a few hours each month of quality time spent with them, yet the impact goes a long way in determining their future path. Come join the discussion of the community benefits of volunteering to be a mentor.
